

1,024 independently drawn sequences, each of length 1,025; predict the next token at each time.

Earlier successors previously followed the current token; their uniform mass is subtracted. Shading: 95% confidence intervals.